Cody:

Before I notify the Childs collection about which of the items we would like from the lists of the items offered to us, I want to be sure I understand how to interpret the green marks you made on the paper copy of the list I gave you (see sample page attached).

On the attached page, for example, on item 19, for example, you highlighted in green the title of the group. I interpret that to mean that you would like all nine of the items (a through i) in that group.

On item 20, you highlighted the title and three items in the group: (a, d, and e). I interpret that to mean that you would only like a, d, and e in group 20.

I am quite sure that I understand correctly your green markings on this list, but I want to be absolutely sure that my understanding is correct. Have I interpreted correctly the green marks that you have made on this list?

Yes you are correct. I believe when i was marking, anything highlighted is a category we should pursue the items in . In example section 19 i think we should get the whole lot if we can. And definitely all of the metal groups(gold, silver, etc). The ones i highlighted lower in the sub category are the specific ones of that category i'd be interested in especially.

I hope that was easier to understand. If you need any more clarification i can try to elaborate more or if i can stop up for a visit. Sorry for the confusion, i did mean to try and get up to go over the list with you, just have been busy.

Thank you

Thanks. Yes, I'm pleased to learn that I have understood correctly your marks on the list.

They need our selections marked before the end of this calendar year, and that will be easy. I'll now go over the list and mark items (not selected by you) that we should have here or which interest me in particular.

Yes, I agree: virtually all the gold and silver items should get a "yes" from us.

There are also items that I am going to say "yes" on and then I will give those items to Ron Konosky.

The items on this list as a whole are worth, I would guess, many thousands of dollars.
